Challenge Statement: Code to Give 2026

- Context:
 - Passion to Serve is a volunteer-run nonprofit in Singapore that supports migrant workers through distribution of essential supplies and enrichment programs such as wellness and digital literacy.
 - Each event requires complex coordination across volunteers, venues, logistics partners, and beneficiaries currently managed through multiple disconnected systems. As a result, time and energy that could be spent supporting migrant workers is diverted to managing logistics, limiting Passion to Serve's ability to deliver and scale their impact.
- Problem Statement: How might Passion to Serve create a simple, unified way to coordinate volunteer-led events so that organizers can easily track progress, manage volunteers, and execute events with confidence?

Challenge Statement: Code to Give 2026

- Your Mission: Build a centralized event coordination tool that helps Passion to Serve plan, manage, and execute volunteer-led events from start to finish. The solution should:
 - Centralize all event coordination into a single view for each event
 - Provide clear visibility into responsibilities, progress, and outstanding tasks
 - Enable organized communication across volunteers, organizers, and external partners
 - Simplify volunteer management including registration, communication, attendance tracking, and post event follow ups
 - Make key event information easy to find, update, and share
 - Reduce reliance on fragmented tools and manual coordination
